BOLD THUGS AT WORK

Two Men Robbed on a Well-Lighted, Crowded Street.

Strangled by the Highwaymen with Twisted Silk Handkerchiefs.

The Victims Left Dazed and Nearly Choked, While the Thugs Escaped.

The Hoboken police are investigating to-day the most daring hold-up and robbery that has been reported there in many years. Up to the present time no one has explained just how the thing occurred, so daring was the attempt upon the lives and the property of the two men attacked.

Asclepius, of 423 Spring street, and Lewis Robacco, of 467 Spring street, two expert Italians, employed in the silk mills as foremen, were walking with their wives last night through West Hoboken, and were passing out Maple street when they dropped behind their wives for a moment.

Suddenly three men sprang out from behind a tree and quick as lightning threw what seemed to be a cord around the necks of both men. The silk weavers were unable to utter a sound, so rapidly was it accomplished. Twisting the cords tighter and tighter it seemed as though the victims were choking to death in many minutes. Completely dazed and almost suffocated by the unexpected and unique assault, they offered no resistance, while the three strangers went through their pockets and robbed them of all their valuables. They succeeded in getting about $25, a knife, a watch, as well as other little trinkets from the pockets of Robacco. The amount secured from Churser was less, but he also lost a watch and a knife.

As soon as the thieves had disappeared the two men regained their senses, and for the first time it was discovered that the cords which were hanging about their necks were new patterned silk handkerchiefs of a plain pattern. The men were slightly injured by blows received from the pockets of Robacco. The matter was at once reported to the police. So far the authorities have no clue, save the handkerchiefs, which were made at once reported to the police. So far the authorities have no clue, save the handkerchiefs, which were made at once reported to the police. So far the authorities have no clue, save the handkerchiefs, which were made at once reported to the police.

The robbers seemed to work in perfect harmony. Two of them attempted to strangle the pair, while the third ransacked the pockets of the men.

RAN AMUCK WITH A PISTOL.

Orin Langwith Terrorized Many Citizens of Paterson.

PATERSON, N. J., Sept. 24.—Orin Langwith succeeded in inaugurating a reign of terror among the residents on upper Main street Saturday night. He was intoxicated and ran amuck, carrying a loaded pistol in his hands and threatening to shoot on sight any person who stopped him.

The streets were crowded at the time, but to one seemed to care very much about stopping the drunken man. He was finally cornered in a saloon, after he had caused a stampede on the street. He made a desperate struggle, but the police were finally called in, and he was taken to the station.

Langwith tried to stab Policeman Perry with a jackknife, but was not successful and was finally overpowered and locked up in a cell.

After a hearing to-day he was sent to jail for three months.

STROHOEFER LEGALLY SANE.

Committed Last March for Writing Annoying Letters.

William Strohofer, thirty years old, a tailor's cutter in Newark, N. J., was arrested on March 31 last for sending insulting letters to his wife, from whom he was separated. He was indicted by the Federal Grand Jury and held for trial in $1,500.

Soon after his indictment he was examined as to his sanity, pronounced sane and sent to a public institution at Washington. He was pronounced cured last week and returned to the care of the United States Marshal of New York last Saturday.

To-day his father, who is a wealthy resident of Newark, filed a new bond for his son's release with United States Commissioner Alexander.

Gentlemen—I cannot tell you how my wife has improved since she began the use of your "Favorite Prescription," coupled with "Golden Medical Discovery." She has no more trouble with falling of the womb, and she never feels any pain unless she stands too long. She has no bearing-down pains since she began the use of your remedies. She does nearly all of her own housework now, but before she commenced taking your remedies, she could hardly walk across the room. I do not know how to thank you for all the good your remedies have done her, for the best doctors had given her case up as incurable. Yours truly, ALFRED LEWIS.

MAY BE A BLOODY FIGHT.

Italians in Avondale, N. J., Armed for a Fight.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 24.—Residents of Avondale are in hourly dread of an outbreak between two warring factions of Italians. Both sides are armed to the teeth, and it is expected that blood will be shed before the trouble is settled.

Rosa Mantala fell in love with an Italian laborer named Frank Serrano. Her father opposed the match, as he had promised her hand to another Italian, a young man of property and family living near Avondale. The girl's lover was denied admission to the Mantala residence.

The young people last week met and paid a visit to New York, where they were married in the City Hall.

They returned to Avondale, but kept their marriage a secret until Saturday night, when Serrano visited Mantala's house and demanded his bride. Serrano was turned out and Rosa locked up.

Young Serrano then went before Justice Post and tried to get that official to issue a warrant. This the Justice refused to do, but promised to investigate the case. The law delays did not satisfy the ardent young lover.

He threatened to go with a crowd of his friends and rescue the bride.

Last night the father, the brothers and a number of the friends of the Mantala family slept upon their arms, prepared to meet the forces of Serrano, provided the young man should put in an appearance and attempt a rescue.

They watched all night, but Serrano did not appear.

It is said, however, that he is marshaling his clans, and that the rescue will take place to-morrow night. An attempt is made, there will certainly be trouble, as the Mantala crowd will be out in full force.

BICYCLERS FEAR HOBOS.

Newark Wheelman Held for Carrying a Concealed Weapon.

George Kennard and Herman Schlager, two young bicyclists of Newark, were held for carrying a concealed weapon yesterday from Newark to Portchester yesterday to call upon Kennard's sister. On their return last evening, while wheeling down Eighth avenue, they were arrested at Twenty-fifth street for not having their lanterns lighted.

At the police station the policeman found a small, 22-calibre pistol in Schlager's pocket, and booked him under the additional charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Schlager explained that his friend's sister had given the pistol, having been alarmed at the prevailing highway robbery, and thinking that they might need it for defense on their long night ride through New Jersey.

Both men were held for trial in $100 for neglecting their lights, in addition to which $100 was added to Schlager's bail for carrying the pistol. They offered to pay a small fine, and said that they had no friends in the city. They were held, however, and taken to Newark for bondsmen.

(Special to The Evening World.) ELIZABETH, N. J., Sept. 24.—A gang of about fifteen tramps last evening took possession of the Boulevard, between Newark and Elizabeth, at Waverly, and undertook to hold up and rob bicyclists. They stopped several and made them hand over their valuables. Others escaped by swift riding, and making their way to Newark notified the authorities.

Chief Hooper sent several mounted policemen to break up the gang. The vagrants made for the woods, and all but four escaped.

WAS HE POISONED?

Moore Died in Convulsions After Drinking Bitter Tea.

He Evidently Suspected Designs Upon His Life.

Mrs. Hubbs Arrested and the Beverage to Be Analyzed.

The police of Jersey City are working on a case in which every indication points to murder by poisoning. George Moore, thirty-four years old, lived at 174 Pine street, that city, taking his meals from Mrs. Alice Hubbs, of Pine and Maple streets. Moore was night foreman in the United States Express Company's stables in Communipaw.

Last night, as usual, his supper was sent to the stables from Mrs. Hubbs's house. At 10:30 o'clock Moore, Joseph Masset and Edward Hansen, other employees of the Company, sat down to eat their lunch. Moore's supper consisted of sandwiches, pie and tea.

After eating some of the sandwiches Moore took up the pie in which the tea was tasted. He remarked that it seemed very bitter and had a peculiar taste. Moore told Masset to taste it.

Which he did, and said it appeared to him to be very bitter. Moore, however, drank some more of the tea.

About ten minutes afterwards Moore got up and went into an adjoining room. He was heard by Masset and Hansen writhing in convulsions, and did everything they could for him, but he soon died. Before he expired Moore said: "I guess they have done me this time."

Masset and Hansen became alarmed and the police were notified. Detective Holtz was set to work on the case, and early this morning arrested Mrs. Hubbs on the charge of putting the poison into the tea.

County Physician Converse was also notified. He ordered the body removed to St. Peter's Hospital in Jersey City, where it now lies. A portion of the tea is in the possession of the County Physician. He is going to make an analysis of it. Mrs. Hubbs denied that she put poison in the tea.

John Moore, a brother of the dead man, lived with Mrs. Hubbs. George tried to induce his brother to leave the house, but he refused. When George had a fight with Mrs. Hubbs, and this, the police say, may be the motive for Mrs. Hubbs poisoning George Moore.

Mrs. Hubbs is in the custody of Detective McNally at her home, John Moore, the brother of the dead man, is also under suspicion. Assistant County Physician Salmon is expected to make an examination of the body some time to-day.

Mrs. Hubbs is a widow, about forty-five years old. She has a daughter. It was learned that George Moore was engaged to be married on Oct. 7, to a Miss Charles, of Lafayette place.

Death of Charles W. Barton. (Special to The Evening World.) ELIZABETH, N. J., Sept. 24.—Charles W. Barton, senior member of the lumber firm of Barton & Spencer, died last night at his home, 101 Pearl street, at the age of fifty-eight years old. He leaves a widow and one son.

CYCLONE ON THE WARPATH.

Off the Florida Coast and Heading Northward To-Day.

It May Be Felt Here and Then Again It May Not.

A big cyclone is meandering along the Southern Atlantic coast, about 200 miles to-day, and there is considerable speculation in the mathematical mind of Weather-Observer Dunn as to whether the storm will be felt in the metropolis or not.

As yet the storm centre of the cyclone has not been located definitely. It started on its wild career last Friday down the West Indian, where it raised havoc and devastation.

This morning it was reported off Florida coast, moving about north-north-west at the rate of forty-four miles an hour.

The storm was accompanied by rain, and the barometer was very low and still falling.

While it is not considered safe for south-bound vessels to leave port for a day or two, as they would probably run right into the storm's centre, Mr. Dunn is not prepared to say that the full force of the cyclone's fury will be felt here.

It is possible that the windy terror may pass out to sea and forget where it is at, but it seems likely that New Yorkers may catch a breath of it in a day or two in the shape of high winds and rains.

Weather Forecast.

The weather forecast for the thirty-six hours ending at 8 P. M. to-morrow is as follows: Fair; slightly cooler; westerly winds.

HOPE FOR LUCY S. DE F. BELL.

Justice Lawrence Orders Asylum Doctors to Examine Her.

Lucy Somerville De Forest Bell, an intelligent-looking young woman, about twenty-five years old, who is at present an inmate of the City Asylum for the Insane, on Ward's Island, was brought before Justice Lawrence in Supreme Court, Chambers, this morning, on a writ of habeas corpus.

Miss Bell, before coming to America, was a teacher of languages in the Royal Academy at Naples. She holds eleven diplomas from different European academies. It is alleged that Miss Bell is not insane.

And 7 last Miss Bell was taken to Bellevue Hospital for treatment for a sprained ankle. While there her actions were such as to cause the physicians to examine her as to her sanity.

They decided her insane and she was committed to the asylum on Ward's Island. Since her commitment to the asylum her mother has been endeavoring to have her released.

J. Haire, her counsel, sent two physicians to the asylum last week, who examined Miss Bell and reported that she was sane.

Justice Lawrence adjourned the case until next Monday to enable the asylum authorities to examine the woman, and unless they decide to release her he will order an inquisition by a commission and sheriff's jury.
